DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 11-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. Examiner was unable to find the following limitation or suggestion in original specification "in response to and substantially contemporaneous with consummation of a transaction between the sender and recipient" particularly the "substantially contemporaneous" could not be found in original specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
 - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 11, 13-15, 17-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Jennings et al (Hereinafter Jennings, US Pat. 5,825,003) in view of Schrader et al (hereinafter Schrader – 5,903,881).

Art Unit: 3628

Re. Claim 11, Jennings discloses storing in a stored value account (place transfer funds into transfer holding fund) of a sender electronic funds that are available for transfer to a recipient [see entire document particularly, abstract; figures; C2 L36-L62; C4 L1-L5; C26 L56-L60; C27 L58-L62], receiving a request over ATM Network (through the use of a terminal such as an ATM, home banking phone, personal computer, conventional telephone or the like) at a server computer to transfer at last some of the funds in the stored value account to a recipient in response to and substantially contemporaneous (instantly) with consummation (settlement) of a transaction between the sender and recipient [abstract; C1 L45 to C2 L62; C3 L50 to C4 L13; C5 L42 to C5 L55 to C6 L40; C27 L48 to C28 L22], sending the requested funds to the recipient () [C4 L1-L5; C13 L44 to C14 L40: C18 L20-L67], and debiting the stored value account [C5 L30-L40; C8 L3-L43; C27 L48 to C28 L20]. Jennings discloses electronic fund transfer over the ATM network or the like. But, Jennings does not explicitly disclose transfer over the Internet. However, Schrader et al (hereinafter Schrader – 5,903,881) discloses online banking and electronic fund transfer system and use of Internet [Abstract; C12 L35-L53; C13 L45-L60] to access financial institution computer system. It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to combine the disclosure of Jennings and Schrader to enable the personal online finance application to use various online environment such as Internet Explorer.

Art Unit: 3628

Re. Claim 15, Jennings discloses receiving a request from a sender at a server computer to transfer funds to a recipient, wherein the request includes information on a payment instrument to be used to pay the funds to the recipient [C3 L50-L67; C4 L14-17; C5 L42 to C6 L40; C27 L48 to C28 L22], from the computer, sending an authorization request to charge the payment instrument [Abstract; Figures 12-14; C1 L45 to C2 L62; C26 L52 to C27 L20; C17 L45-L67], receiving at the server computer an authorization to charge the payment instrument [Abstract; Figures 12-14; C1 L45 to C2 L62; C26 L52 to C27 L20; C5 L9-L30; C17 L45-L67], and providing the requested funds to the recipient [C5 L42 to C6 L8; C9 L17 to C10 L50; C28 L1-L22]. Jennings does not explicitly disclose server computer. However, Schrader discloses server computer [Figure 13; C12 L28 to C13 L7; C15 L5-L27] to allow the Internet based communication. It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to modify the disclosure of Jennings and include computer server, as taught by Schrader, to allow the client computer download a configuration file which contains the financial institutions description information.

Re. Claims 13-14 and 17-18 Jennings discloses confirmation message is displayed to the customer [C9 L17-L32; C11 L10 to C12 L50; C14 L29-L45]. Jennings does not explicitly disclose email. However, Schrader discloses email messages [C19 L25-L45] to allow the user to receive email message from financial institution or send message to financial institutions. It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to modify the disclosure of Jennings and add email to allow the user to get message for inquiries about specific transactions.

Re. Claims 19 and 20, Jennings discloses wherein the recipient is a merchant (point of sale) [C8 L38].

Claims 12 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over

Jennings in view of Schrader as applied to claims 11 & 15 above, and further in view of Nethery (US 6,070,798).

Re. Claims 12 and 16, neither Jennings nor Schrader discloses generating a money order in the name of the recipient, and wherein the requested funds are sent by sending the money order. However, Nethery discloses this step [Abstract; Figure 5; C1 L5 to C2

L38] to enable remote purchase over a network. It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to modify the disclosure of Jennings and Schrader to add money negotiable instrument such as money order to be send through electronic communication link.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments with respect to pending claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Applicant is required under 37 CFR ' 1.111 (c) to consider the references fully when responding to this action.

Jeanne O'Brien, Feb. 1999 "CIBC arms clients with Internet access" discloses electronic transfer and banking functions including electronic payment mechanism such as money order over the Internet.

US 6,149,057 to Hollis, Nov. 21, 2000 "System and method for transfer of funds using preprinted sealed security code packet and automated teller machine", discloses a currency transfer system which does not require the generation of unique personal identification numbers during a transfer of currency, which eliminates the necessity of transmitting PIN numbers and other security codes between a host computer and the sender of currency, and which does not require the recipient of the funds to enter in an ATM the amount of currency being transferred to the recipient.
